“ My Condolences to the family.

I will always remember Mr. Charles for his sense of humor and his intellect. A funny memory I have (I laugh still) is he tried to scare his daughter Erica (teenager at the time) and myself into being responsible. Erica had a library book that she did not return, and she received a late fee. Mr. Charles told us that if we don't pay library fees, we will not be allowed to get our driver's license, credit card, house etc. We burst out in laughter and tears. Mr. Charles did not drop his script. He kept adding to what we could not get in life if we had a LIBRARY FEE!! Years have passed, when I am paying my bills as an adult I think about Mr. Charles and smile. Although he stretched it for what it was worth, he was correct. Your name is your credit, and everything is attached. Lesson learned ((heart)).
