“ Godparents are one of our truest blessings and my dear Auntie Peaches was my Godmother extraordinaire.

You and my parents shared a wonderful friendship spanning 65+ years and you were my bonus Mom who loved me as if I were your own. The history of our families is a special one that runs deep. Wherever my Mom (Millie) and my late Dad (Moulton) were, chances are you were right there too. The bond we shared stood the test of time, and even though we relocated to Orlando, and you and Corey to Atlanta- never did we lose touch with each other.

I will miss hearing your "how unno do," our talks, your laughter, and all the funny stories you would share about my parent's courtship. I remember as a little girl the many trips my parents and I made to Walkers Wood and how we enjoyed and loved spending time with Aunty Dud and your Dad. You welcomed me into your home in 1991 after I moved back to NY and I lived with you for a few years before venturing out on my own. Oh how I admired your love for family, the caretaker that you were who gave unselfishly, your elegance, and your undying Faith.

I am still trying to grasp that you are no longer here, but I find comfort in knowing God needed you more. I'll cherish the memories Auntie P, and I know you will live on in my heart and for that I am grateful. You were truly a blessing in my life.

To Gregory, my Godbrother Corey, and the family- do know that my Mom, my husband Jerry, and I pray that you all find strength during this very difficult time. Sleep In Eternal Peace Auntie Peaches!

🙏 Gone but will never be forgotten

“ Aunt Peaches' heart could fit an entire village. Always kind and willing to take in someone's child and love them unconditionally. I am eternally grateful for knowing and being a recipient of her love, joy, grace, and home. Thank you for sharing your mom with me, Greg and Corey.

“ As far as I can remember, I have known Aunt Peaches, she was resilient, extraordinary, kind humble and indeed a loving person. As I recall in my childhood life ,we went to visit, she had a tree that looked like 🍒 cherries, I think I was 4 or so, I picked this fruit and start to eat ,I started to cry, aunty Peaches was there to the rescue with some sugat,I had eaten a pepper. She was always gently. She will truly be missed, any may the perpetual light of Gid shine upon her till we meet again
