“ The first time I went fishing was with Daddy. Although we have fishing poles, he took a piece of string and tied it around a bottle and told me that that is how they used to fish back in Jamaica. We forgot all about the bottle because we were catching fish after fish. All of a sudden the bottle started to Rattle and make all this noise, Daddy said Rodie, we got a fish. When we finally pull the fish up we had a nice jack fish and he fried it up for his later that night. That is only one of my favorite memories of spending time with Daddy. I loved him and he will be missed.
